JEWELER AND OPTICIAN
Corner Eighth St. and Central Ave.

A Good Officer.

Frederick Kamferbeck, the present city marshal, has made a good officer and has given satisfaction to all law abiding citizens. He has been instrumental in ferreting out many of the crimes and misdeeds and deserves credit for it. Some of his good work was done lately in ferreting out the burglaries committed here lately. He is a gentleman in every way and treats all alike whether rich or poor. Mr. Kamferbeck's record is a clean one and he deserves the vote of the people at the election for the office of sheriff for which he is the nominee on the Democratic ticket.

A Perfect Beet Puller.

The Palmer beet puller has been given a number of trials in this vicinity lately and it is pronounced by those who have tried it that it is as near a perfect puller as can be devised. At first there were some slight difficulties but with some changes these have been overcome and the tool is now practically perfect. It is much lighter than other pullers now on the market and a team can easily do the work of drawing it as it goes into the soil only five or six inches, while other diggers go down very deep. The Palmer tool loosens the entire beet and raises it so that it can be picked up. The pull is directly upward so that beets are not broken as with some other diggers. It has taken considerable study and experimenting but the parties interested can feel contented that they have a first-class digger and a machine that will find ready sale. Growers of beets should see this machine as they will find it a labor saver and a horse-flesh saver.

SENSATIONAL WRITER.

Some time ago there appeared in a Pittsburgh paper an article purporting to give a description of Holland. The article was in every way misleading and The Times made reply to it. Local manager Thomas Oakley of the H. J. Heinz Co., wrote to Pittsburgh to find out where the article originated. It was found that the letter in question was sent in by a lady who had visited here and who evidently was more anxious to get paid for a sensational article than to do justice to our city. We will state that it did not emanate from any one connected with the Heinz works as might have been inferred from the article. Mr. Heinz and his employees have too high a regard for Holland to misrepresent it in any way and an article was published in a later issue of the Pittsburgh paper giving a truthful and good write up.

Politics is very quiet this year, but not so the furniture business of Jas. A. Brouwer. Always watching the markets very closely, Mr. Brouwer has again taken advantage of an opportunity to buy a large stock of furniture at one-half price. One of our large factories had a lot of odd dressers, sideboards and bedsteads which had accumulated in the past and wishing to dispose of them to make room for other goods, sold the whole lot to Mr. Brouwer at a great sacrifice. In today's ad he is quoting some prices on these goods which ought to interest anybody who is in need of anything in this line.

If you are thinking about buying dress goods, suitings or waisting this fall, it will be to your interest to inspect the line of dress goods shown by Du Mez Bros. They have many of the weaves which are very popular nowadays, such as itamines, zibellines, snowflake, show-erproof cloth, etc.

Vote For W. O. Van Eyck.

The Right Man for the Place

In William O. Van Eyck, at present city clerk of Holland, the Democrats of the First Representative district have found the man in Ottawa county who will ably and acceptably represent them in the next state legislature. The requisites for a man who represents the district in the legislature are manifold. He should, first of all, be a person who trusts the common people and who will work for their interests as against the interests of corporations. He should be diligent, painstaking, strongly in earnest. He should form convictions as to the right and wrong side of public questions as they present themselves during his term of office, and he should be able to defend his convictions in debate. He should possess an adequate education and a desire for study.

All these qualities are exemplified in William O. Van Eyck. He is a man of the people and was born and raised on a farm in this county. He is still one with the common people and has their interests at heart. He received his college training at Hope college and is a graduate of the legal department of the University of Michigan. He has always paid close attention to public affairs and is a great student of current events. He has strong convictions on questions of public interest and is able to express his opinions in forceful language. He has ever been found faithful to his charge and has been re-elected repeatedly as city clerk of the city of Holland against the usually overwhelming Republican vote of the city. The common people are his friends and they are these that are most interested in his election to the legislature.

As a young man of ability Mr. Van Eyck has made remarkable progress and has gained the complete confidence of the public. He should receive the hearty support of the electors of the district for he is a safe and capable man, having the interests of the common people at heart.

ALLEGAN COUNTY SUPERVISORS.

The supervisors of Allegan county met in session last week at Allegan. Probate Judge Williams presented his annual report of insane cases. It showed that during the year ending Oct. 1, fifteen persons had been admitted to the asylum in Kalamazoo from this county.

Tuesday morning claims to the amount of $261.34 were allowed as passed upon by the committee. At the time of the special order—election of officers—Supervisors Sturgis and Moore were present tellers. The roll of townships was called for nominations for superintendent of the poor to succeed Levi C. Smith, but Mr. Smith was the only candidate presented and on motion of Supervisor Evans the rules were suspended and he was re-elected unanimously for three years.

Two candidates were presented for county school examiner, R. M. Sprague of Overisel, whose term would expire, and Volney Stock of Hopkins Station, who wished to get his name before the board for further consideration at a future time. The ballot stood 18 to 5 in favor of Mr. Sprague.

The soldiers' Relief commission—S. S. Fox, Geo. W. Cady, and Ogden Tomlinson, presented their annual report. They had received $1,200, of which $500 came from the tax roll and $700 was the balance from last year. The expenditures had been $636.51 for relief as scheduled by the commission and $265.37 from the emergency fund, making a total of $901.88, leaving a balance of $358.12. The committee recommended that relief be granted persons in the several townships as reported by the supervisors as follows: Allegan $75, Casco $40, Cheshire $50, Clyde $60, Heath $20, Gunplain $100, Hopkins $120, Laketown $25, Lee $50, Manlius $70, Monterey $45, Otsego $60, Saugatuck $100, Valley $105, Wayland $70; that the amounts heretofore appropriated but not withdrawn be discontinued, and that a tax of one twentieth of a mill be spread on the assessed valuation of the county for a relief fund the ensuing year. With exception of the recommendation relative to the tax, which was referred to the finance committee, the report was accepted and filed.

Wednesday morning the committee on equalization reported, and the report was adopted without discussion or amendment, something that has not been done in many years. The equalization was on the basis of $18,000,000 for the county. The total value of the state as equalized is $14,064,806, and the personal estate $3,935,134.

Amounting to $798.56 were allowed. One of them was for $406.20, the amount charged for the services of H. J. Dickema of Holland in the District, when Mr. Dickema assisted Auditor Thew.

The finance committee recommended that $4,529.32 be raised for state tax, $1,000 for county tax, $10,000 for poor fund, $2,000 for insane fund, and $300 for soldiers' relief fund, making a total of $7,829.32 for the ensuing year.

The committee on salaries recommended that the following sums be paid to various officers: County treasurer $1,000, prosecuting attorney $1,000, school commissioner $1,200, janitor $100, members of Soldiers' Relief commission $3 per day and six cents per mile, sheriff 45 cents per day for board, each prisoner. The report was accepted.—Press.

SHERRIFFS WHITEBECK AND BENSLEY OF ALLEGAN COUNTY COMPARED.

A short sighted policy to try to bring the self up by tearing down the standing of another person, and especially when misrepresentation is connected with the attempt. The Allegan Press last week, in the course of a campaign of political praise of Sheriff Ed Bensley, makes comparisons which reflect on the work of John V. Whitebeck, sheriff of this village, who preceded Bensley as sheriff. The statement appears that the actual expenses of the office were about $300 less last year than the year before. Sheriff Whitebeck was in office since that item was published, and his bills have been gone over and found that during 1900 Mr. Whitebeck's personal bills amounted to $2,440, while his deputies drew $342.04, making a total of $2,782.04. Mr. Bensley's own bills for 1901 were $2,790.49 (nearly $300 more than Whitebeck's) while his deputies drew $2,051.23, a total expense of $4,841.72, or a difference of $1,598.55 in Whitebeck's favor. It should also be remembered that the very expensive and murder trial came during the term of Sheriff Whitebeck, greatly adding to his bills. Tell the truth, gentlemen, your candidate may fall out of the running pan into the fire and get burned.—Fennville Herald.

PARANOUR TAKES THE STAND

Editor of the Echoes of Himself and Mistress to Get Rid of the Husband.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 2.—Charles Holada, charged with abetting the defendant, Mrs. James Gallagher, in the murder of her husband last April, took the stand in the trial at Iowa City yesterday and gave a remarkable account of his alleged illicit relations with the murdered man's wife and their joint plots to get rid of Gallagher.

He swore that after the woman became infatuated with him they agreed first to poison Gallagher, the wife administering the dose; second, that Holada kill him in the woods, felling a tree across the body to make death seem accidental; third, that Holada slay him with a club in the barn, and throw the body under the horses; fourth, that he shoot him while hunting birds about the barn and allege that it was accidental.

He testified that the crime was committed by the woman because of a quarrel resulting from her husband discovering her and Holada in a compromising position three days before the murder.

WOMEN USE THE KNIFE

They Badly Cut Up Another Woman—Policeman Suffers a Beating When He Interferes.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Bessie Camp was severely cut about the head and arms and Policeman Johnson, of the Desplaines street station, was beaten in a fight at 151 Halsted street yesterday. Bessie Camp, who lives at the number mentioned, was attacked by Alice Hanley and Theresa Walsh on the street. Mrs. Hanley and Theresa Walsh had stabbed Miss Camp repeatedly, when Policeman Johnson arrived.

The women saw him and ran into the rooming house at 151, where Johnson followed them. Frank Hanley appeared and grappled with him, while Mrs. Hanley and Theresa Walsh joined in the fight. Johnson was severely pounded but locked up all the parties with the aid of other policemen.

Governor of Vermont Elected.
Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 2.—The legislature in convention assembled yesterday elected as governor General John C. McCullough, Republican, of Bennington. At the polls General McCullough failed to receive a majority of votes, although receiving the largest number of popular votes cast. Yesterday, however, he received his majority, having the support of 164 members of the convention. Percival W. Clement, the high-license local option candidate, received 59 votes and Felix W. McGettrick, the Democratic candidate, 45.

Young Ellsworth on Trial.
Woodstock, Ill., Oct. 2.—The trial of Earl A. Ellsworth, charged with the murder of Amos W. Anderson, was begun in the McHenry county circuit court Tuesday. Ellsworth's father and mother and their aged brother, Amos W. Anderson, were found dead in the family residence on Feb. 28. The coroner's jury found that the elder Ellsworth, in a fit of jealousy, had shot his wife and Anderson and killed himself. The son was held as an accessory.

Took the Cake Literally.
A suburban golf club has a Japanese steward named Ooka. He is an excellent cook and his neatness and good taste are beyond question, but he has a very slight knowledge of English, and this sometimes causes him to make ludicrous mistakes. A young woman gave a tea at the clubhouse and sent for Ooka a few days ahead of time, so that all the details of her party might be perfected. She arranged for everything and at the end said: "Now Ooka, at the tea we must have apple pie order." "Yes, madam, apple pie," Ooka returned. "No, apple pie order," said the young girl. "All right, Me understand. Apple pie," Ooka repeated with an obstinate smile. "Apple pie order," the other corrected again, and Ooka took his leave. He served at the tea along with the dainty little sandwiches and cake twenty huge pieces of apple pie.—Philadelphia Record.

WILL VISIT THE SCENE

Coal Strike Arbitrators to Begin Their Inquiry with a Look Over the Ground.

WHERE THE BATTLE WAS FOUGHT

Inspection of Mines and Homes of Miners Begins Thursday, the Whole Board Taking Part in the Look Around.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The anthracite coal strike commission yesterday, in the hearing room of the interstate commerce commission, held its first conference with the parties to the controversy in the anthracite regions. There was a full representation of both operators and miners, and a number of other interested parties were present. The commission occupied the elevated seats generally filled by members of the interstate commerce commission, Judge Gray, as president, occupying the center, Wright, Watkins and Clark the seats to the right of him. In the order named, while General Wilson, Bishop Spalding and Parker sat on the left in the order of their names. The proceedings covered about two hours' time, and were given up entirely to a discussion of the time and method of proceeding with the proposed investigation.

Will First Go Over the Ground.

The commission decided to begin its work next Thursday at 9 a. m., the first days of the investigation to be devoted to a physical examination of the mines and the homes of the miners, starting in the vicinity of Scranton. The entire anthracite field will be covered. There was considerable discussion over a proposition made by the commission to have expert accountants appointed to audit the statements of wages and classification of miners to be made by the operators for the use of the commission, but no result was reached on this point beyond the announcement by the chairman of the commission's intention to appoint such an accountant in case his services should be found necessary.

Basis of the Miners' Demands.

During the progress of the meeting Mitchell, as the representative of the miners, presented a copy of the original declaration of the miners, as formulated by the Shamokin convention as the basis of the demands of the miners. This demand is—first, for an increase of 20 per cent. in wages of those not engaged by the day; second, a reduction of 20 per cent. in working hours of those engaged by the day; third, the payment for coal mined by weight at a minimum rate of 60 cents per ton of 2,240 pounds; fourth, a wage agreement between the operators and the miners for an adjustment of wages.

Baer's Objections to Mitchell.

Baer, on the part of the coal operators, took exception to Mitchell's appearance before the commission as a representative of the United Mine Workers, but said that he had no objection to his presence as a representative of the strikers, as such, in their individual capacity. The commission made no attempt to settle the controversy, but it was made apparent that the recognition of the miners' union will be an important and knotty problem for the arbitrators. Mitchell stated that he was here as the representative of the anthracite miners solely.

BAER STATES WHAT HE WANTS

Believes in a Sliding Scale, Which He Calls the Profit-Sharing Plan.

During the discussion as to details Baer made a point of saying that the case of each coal company would be dealt with separately. He would contend for the sliding scale in the regulation of wages. "I shall urge the adoption of that profit-sharing plan," he said, "which gave us peace formerly in our relation to our employees."

Thomas, of the Hillside Iron and Coal and the Pennsylvania Coal companies, said he noticed that the term "arbitration" had been applied to the commission's work, while he wanted it considered as an investigation. Judge Gray said that the president's instructions entitled it an arbitration. Thomas also urged that the conditions in each of the mining companies were different and could only be considered separately. He thought more progress could be made by a physical examination of the coal region.

The suggestion that both sides appoint experts to examine the books of the companies was made by Judge Gray, chairman of the commission. He said it would be a good plan for the different interests agree that the tabulated statements relating to the existing rates of wages in the different localities of the mining region be taken from the books of the operators by two expert accountants, one to be named by each party, such accountants to be employed by the commission. Baer, after expressing his disinclination to accept this suggestion, said that his company would submit their pay rolls under oath of their accountant. He said they now had seventy clerks who are working day and night in compiling data for the commission.

COMPROMISE ON THE QUESTION

Of Inspection of the Pay Rolls—Arrangements for a Tour.

President Mitchell said that it would facilitate the work of the commission if it would accept a general statement on those issues that affect all the companies and the mine workers alike; for instance, the question of shorter hours. Dr. Weyl, for the miners, said that if the suggestions of the chairman were accepted Mitchell and himself would not present the statistics they had prepared, because they were ready to concede that these figures were not as full and correct as they would be if taken from the company's books. Baer, however, thought that these statistics would be a check on the companies' pay rolls and should be presented; that the men would know whether the companies' payrolls were right, and that no issue would arise on that subject.

"Will your statement give the different classes of workmen?" inquired Mitchell. "Undoubtedly," said Baer. After further controversy Judge Gray modified his suggestion, the time presenting it in the shape of a proposition that only one expert accountant be appointed, who should analyze the statement made by both sides to the controversy and verify the facts for the consideration of the commission. Baer promptly accepted this suggestion and Mitchell followed suit after a brief explanation on his part.

The question of the examination by the commission into the conditions under which the mining of anthracite coal is conducted was then entered on, and Watkins, of the commission, suggested that a week or ten days' time would be necessary in order to make an adequate examination of the physical conditions of the mines. All the operators favored the investigation and Mitchell added that the homes of the miners should also be investigated, which was agreed to.

After consulting the members of the commission President Gray announced that it would begin its inspection next Thursday, commencing its work in district No. 1, in which the city of Scranton is located. Then it was that the offer of a special train was made by the operators, and the public meeting was closed, the commission going into executive session. The special train was unanimously declined. The commissioners expect personally to pay all of their expenses, accepting no favors and relying on the government to reimburse them.

The next meeting will be at the Hotel Jermyn, Scranton, Pa., Thursday at 9 a. m. to leave at that hour on their first tour of inspection.

GOLD WATCH FOR MITCHELL

Striking Miners Present Him with a Beautiful Piece of Jewelry.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 27.—President Mitchell was in conference with the district presidents—Nicholls, Duffy and Fahy—for several hours yesterday. He outlined his case as he will present it to the board of arbitration in behalf of the miners, and the same received the approval of the district presidents. Yesterday afternoon Mitchell was presented with a gold badge and gold watch by the Polish, Lithuanian and Slav members of the United Mine Workers. The badge bears his monogram, "J. M.," in diamonds just underneath the bar containing the pin by which it is fastened to the coat lapel.

Below this is the button of the United Mine Workers of America, from which hangs a pendant—a tiny pick and shovel with miner's lamp in the center, underneath which is a medalion. The seal of the organization in the center is in the form of a breaker boy standing in the midst of a bank of coal. The presentation took place at President Mitchell's headquarters and a large crowd listened to the speeches of presentation and acceptance.

MORE MINES IN OPERATION

Output of the Anthracite Collieries Being Rapidly Increased.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 28.—There are more mines in operation in the anthracite region than at any time since May 12 last, when the strike began. The Lehigh region continues to be the barren spot. The employees of Pardee & Co. and Cox & Co. are still idle. The Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company started up its collieries in the Lehigh region: Ninety-five per cent. of the mines in the Wyoming and Lackawanna region are now in operation and there will be a large increase in the output from now on.

The output at the collieries of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company and the Delaware and Hudson company will be especially heavy. In some of the mines there are many difficulties to be overcome. Falls are of frequent occurrence and this retards mining.

Two Men Killed by a Train.

Covington, Ind., Oct. 28.—David Hints, county councilman, and Al Smith were instantly killed late at night by a west-bound Clover Leaf passenger train at a crossing. The two men were on their way home from Silver Grove in a light buggy. Both bodies were badly mangled.

ECCENTRIC METHODS.

Why Alexandre Dumas Did Not Succeed as a Publisher.

The Mousquetaire, a Parisian Journal founded by Alexandre Dumas, grew and flourished for a short time and then became extinct. It was carried on during a brilliant existence with an astonishing disregard of business methods commonly in vogue. Its staff was the largest and most varied ever known. Persons would walk into the office, propose working for the paper and find themselves at once accepted.

"What will you allow me?" a new man would ask.

"Whatever you like, my boy," Dumas would return. "By the way," he would explain to every new aspirant, "we must understand one thing: I mean you to be handsomely paid. You must have 1,000 francs a month, and if you should want a month's pay in advance now, don't scruple to ask for it."

Everybody was dazzled, and Dumas himself more than all the rest. No business enterprise, however, could exist on such a basis, and the journal began to languish. Then a man named Boule proposed taking the speculation out of Dumas' hands. He offered the great man 100 francs a day, which meant more than $7,000 a year.

"Here," said Boule, is a checkbook full of those little tinted leaves you are so fond of. Every morning you have only to write your name at the foot of one, send it into the office and touch your 100 francs.

Dumas loved money, and his face beamed with delight. "But suppose," said he, "that some day I should want 300 or 400 francs?"

"Well, all you have to do is to send in three or four of your checks. Nothing is more simple."

The book lay on the author's desk, a delightful and ready resource. Did a creditor call? A slip of paper, and he was paid. A poor woman was about to be turned out into the street. A few more slips, and she was relieved. At the end of the week nothing was left of the book but the cover. Then Boule changed his mode of procedure.—Youth's Companion.

Thar never was a plant as hard to git rooted as charity is, and a body ought to have it whar they kin whar it close. It 'll die a heap o' times of you jest look at it, and it mighty nigh always has bad soll ur a drought to contend with.—"Abner Daniel."

Old London Street Names.

A writer in the London Argus gives the following peculiar old street names, with the modern substituted:

Adam - a Digging - yard - St. Peter street.

Aggat's passage - Cutler street, Houndsditch.

Alphabet court - Clare Market.

Baalzephon street - Long lane, Bermondsey.

Bully Rag row - Bethnal Green.

Jenious row - St. George's-in-the-East.

Antigallian passage - Temple Bar.

Lally Pot lane - Foster lane.

The derivations of these names, continues the writer, would be an interesting study, but I think it would be found that in a large number of instances the love of eccentricity had led to the selection.

Origin of a Popular Myth.

People are expected to believe history when such things as this happens. In 1802 a man living on a small farm east of Wichita ran out of coal one evening. He was getting supper, and he took an armful of corn and dumped it in the stove. Corn was 10 cents a bushel, and the Wichita reporter fired the story out over the country that Kansas farmers were burning corn. The corn burning story has passed into history as a fact. If Julius Caesar had no better foundation than the corn story he never existed at all.—Wichita Eagle.

Saving.

"My wife has a saving disposition," said Hicks. "When we got our upright piano, she made a red plush cover for it, so that the rosewood wouldn't get scratched. Then she covered that with a sort of linen duster arrangement, so as to save the plush. I tell you, women have great minds."

Real Exertion.

"And so this is your gymnasium?" asked the guest. "But where are your gymnastic appliances?"

"I don't need any," was the reply. "I find that I get all the exercise I need just getting into and out of my athletic suits."—Baltimore American.

Not Always Lucky.

"Do you believe that odd numbers are lucky?"

"Well, I'd rather be the father of twins than triplets."—New York Times

FARM-FIELD AND GARDEN

SHORTHORN CATTLE.

Popular With Small Farmers—Adapted to Diversified Farming.

The Shorthorn breed of English cattle in the course of its development has been represented mainly by three family types—the Bates, noted for style and finish, with a combination of milk and beef qualities; the Booths, famous for wide backs, length of quarters, deep flesh and beefing attributes; the Cruickshanks or Scotch family, noted for heavy weight, with broad, deep forms, heavy flesh, vigor and early maturity. The Shorthorn of today should reflect a blending of the three family types in possessing a good beef form, good milking qualities and a vigorous constitution.

The common colors are red, white and roan. In size the Shorthorn ranks among the largest of all breeds.

One hundred and fifty thousand as the number of living registered Shorthorns in the United States is a recent estimate thought to be approximately correct. Of these it is stated that 5 per cent are on the range and 95 per cent in the hands of the "small farmer," the strong feature of the breed being its adaptability to the requirements of diversified farming.—W. L. Hutchinson, Mississippi.

FALL PLOWING.

As Late In the Season as Possible Is One Farmer's Preferred Time.

We like to defer our fall plowing just as late in the season as possible. Between the first freezings and thaws is the best time. Then whatever vegetable matter, stubble or refuse we turn under begins to decay at once and by planting time will yield up such plant food as may be contained therein, says an Orange Judd Farmer writer.

The ground is not so soft and wet in fall as it is in spring, and there is less damage sustained by teams tramping over it. When the team stops on wet ground in spring, there is apt to be a clod all through the summer. A majority of these clods may be pulverized, it is true, by rolling, harrowing and dragging, but this is expensive and may be avoided by plowing in the fall. When we turn up and expose a bare soil to sunshine in summer or frost in winter, the available fertility is thereby increased and no mistake. And all know that the more available fertility we can get into the soil the larger will be the crop yield.

The mechanical condition of soils that will admit of fall plowing is always better than it is on lands plowed in spring. The freezing and thawing break down every lump, and we have that condition which seems to be the most desirable, "as mellow as an ash heap."

By fall plowing we get rid of various kinds of worms and insects that are a menace to the crops and not infrequently destroy them. We have never had corn injured by cutworms or any other worms on land that had been fall plowed.

Fall plowing enables us to start our spring crops earlier in the season, and one year with another it is the early sown oats and the early planted corn that give us the largest yield. Then it is far easier to cultivate land plowed in fall. Weed seeds do not start so early or grow off so vigorously for some reason or other.

Cover For Strawberries.

"I always use cornstalks as a winter covering for strawberries, but in connection with leaves. My strawberries are on stiff land that heaves very badly in winter, so plants have to be well covered. I find the stalks keep the leaves in rows from blowing away better than such brush as I can get. The stalks are put lengthwise of the rows," says a writer in Rural New Yorker. And another correspondent's opinion is:

"I consider evergreen boughs the ideal strawberry covering, but quite an expense to cover several acres and clear away the same. My second choice is cornstalks. If the stalks are very long, I should put lengthwise to save material. If light, fine stalks, I should spread with a fork. I think a light covering of corn fodder alone is quite sufficient, as all that is required is to shade the ground and have something to hold the snow from blowing off."

A New Market In the Orient.

A new market for corn is slowly developing in the orient. China also consumes increasing quantities of the lower grades of wheat flour, including also corn flour by itself or as an adulterant of wheat flour. This material is baked into bread and cakes. The Chinese market takes very kindly to dried fruits and vegetables as well as to canned goods. Germany is shipping immense quantities of canned peas, asparagus, etc., to China. California is sending large shipments of dried peaches, prunes and other fruits and vegetables to the orient.—American Agriculturist.

THE SPLASHING HOUSE.

A French Yarn That Was Printed to Ridicule Englishmen.

One of the most extraordinary tales ever invented about Englishmen by foreigners was the "splashing house" story, given to the world by the Paris Journal Patrie in 1893. An ingenious writer in the paper gravely informed his readers that in the suburbs of London were houses where "earth beaten up into mud is retailed." To these houses men were accustomed to resort in hunting kit for the purpose of being splashed with mud.

"These curious establishments are provided with mounds of different counties, but principally of those counties where the hunting is best. The sale of the mud is conducted in the most serious manner imaginable; the attendant inquires, 'From what county, sir, do you wish it to be supposed you have just returned?' 'From the county of Kent.' The pretended sportsman thereupon takes a seat on a wooden horse whose legs throw up the selected mud; after having been well splashed the customer pays his bill (3 shillings), casts an eye of approbation toward the mirror, takes a whip in his hand and goes to exhibit his muddy clothes in Piccadilly, Bond street or Pall Mall, in order that it may be supposed that he has just returned from a grand hunt."

In addition to the chance of marrying an heiress which this remarkable display of dirty clothes confers on their wearers, says the French newspaper man, the patron of the "splashing house" has another more immediate advantage. "The mud with which he is splashed affords, if not proof, strong presumptive evidence that he is a landed proprietor in the county whose mud bespatters him." And landed proprietors being held in vast esteem as solvent and desirable creditors, the man can obtain anything he likes at any shop on credit.

One wonders whether such a wonderful tale finds any believers among those who read it.—London Live Stock Journal.

JUMPING THE DEER.

A Style of Hunting That Looks Easy Till You Try It.

"Jumping a deer" is a highly attractive phrase, quite apt to make a tinging in the back hair of the tenderfoot who hears it for the first time. It is also intensely satisfactory to the chap who always has to shave before wounding nature. You may, indeed, get a good shot in this way, and it is generally the only way to see the grandest of all the sights of the woods—deer running through a windfall. To see the glossy curves of fur curl over the lofty logs that lie piled on each other in boundless confusion is well worth a trip to the woods, while for him who loves the rifle as I do, more for what cannot be done with it than for what can, there is no such target elsewhere. But for the tyro who is dying to get that first deer, "jumping a deer" generally means out of sight and out of hearing both. For the deer that goes off to lie down after feeding does not go to sleep, but to ruminate and take life easy. Once in a great while one falls into a doze, but almost always the head is well erect and all senses keen for danger. And even if one is in a doze it may slip away without your suspecting its existence, for sleep deadens little of the senses of this wary animal. The man who "wouldn't shoot such an innocent creature as a deer" should by all means see one getting out of a heavy windfall, while the man who loves game that can get away can here find the attraction of the woods at its climax.—Hunting the Virginia Deer in Outing.

The Ant's Toilet.

A naturalist has been making observations on the toilets of certain ants, and has discovered that each insect goes through most elaborate ablutions. They are not only performed by herself, but by another, who acts for the time as lady's maid. The assistant starts by washing the face of her companion, and then goes over the whole body. The attitude of the ant that is being washed is one of intense satisfaction. She lies down with all her limbs stretched loosely out; she rolls over on her side, even her back, a perfect picture of ease. The pleasure the little insect derives in being thus combed and sponged is really enjoyable to the observer.—Philadelphia Press.

The Way of the World.

We met the people going one way with their arms loaded with beautiful flowers. "Whither do you drift?" we asked. "We go," they exclaimed, "to adorn the graves of our dead heroes." Later on we met them with their arms full of bricks. "And now where?" we asked again. "To throw these at our living heroes," they again explained, with pitying smiles at our dumbness.

The Small Brother.

"I heard him call you 'duckie,'" announced the small brother.

"Well, what of it?" demanded his sister defiantly.

"Oh, nothin' much," answered the small brother. "I was only thinkin' maybe it's because of the way you walk, but it ain't very nice of him."—Chicago Post.

The Real Boy.

"What does Freddy like to play?" asked the caller.

"Freddy," replied papa, "likes to play whatever games his mother and I decide are too rough for him."—Detroit Free Press.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

Telegraphic Reports of Matters of General Interest to Our Readers.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS BY WIRE

Items Prepared with Special Care for the Convenience of Our Own Readers.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 27.—Former City Attorney Lant K. Salsbury and S. V. McLeod, former paying teller of the old National bank, sentenced to the Detroit house of correction for two years by the federal court for violating the United States banking laws, have arrived here as witnesses in the libel case of H. J. Hollister, against the Grand Rapids Publishing company, on trial in the superior court. They were met at the station by many personal friends, who greeted them warmly. Mrs. Salsbury visited with her husband for several hours at the jail, and the meeting between them was a painfully affectionate one.

Sprout's Advance Information.
J. Clark Sprout, manager of the newspaper being sued, while on the witness stand testified that while the grand jury was in session probing into details of the water scandal—"I had information that a corruption fund had come here to be used in the promotion of the water deal and was placed in vaults of the Michigan Trust company; that after that Mr. McLeod, the paying teller of Mr. Hollister's bank, had taken it as custodian and placed it in the old National bank vaults; that after that, it appearing that he was short at the old National bank, he had taken a part of this identical fund and put it into the bank to make up that shortage."

Why He Did Not Tell.
The court scored Sprout for not giving the information to the prosecutor. Sprout replied that "Salsbury told me of his troubles in confidence, and I did not feel called upon to volunteer my evidence against him." Both Salsbury and McLeod were sworn in the case, Salsbury when pressed by Attorney Crane to tell of his Chicago case refused to answer, and completely broke down and wept. The court handed him a glass of water, and he was then excused, but broke down again when outside the court room.

HAD TO LEAP FOR THEIR LIVES

Six Women Caught in a Close Place by a Fire That Was Started by Lightning.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 25.—During a terrific thunder storm here a bolt of lightning struck the house occupied by Mrs. Mat Morrison, a place at 300 Canal street, and before a move could be made by the six women in the building every regular mode of exit had been cut off by the flames and the stifling smoke. In their night clothing they leaped from the windows. Florence Smith was the most seriously injured, having jumped from the attic, a distance of forty feet, receiving internal injuries which may cause her death.

With flames pouring from her window, Jennie Smith crashed through the frame to the ground, and was picked up unconscious and removed to Butterworth hospital. Marie Franklin and Doris Watson jumped from second-story windows. Mrs. Morrison and her sister, who acted as housekeeper, escaped with their hair and clothing burned. The building, which was elaborately furnished, is a total wreck.

Firebug and His Method.

Owosso, Mich., Oct. 24.—A firebug whose method is to ignite buildings with waste saturated with oil, is keeping the fire department on the qui vive. The incendiary procured waste and oil from the city engine house and fired the Beebe building in the center of the city. This blaze was extinguished without the aid of the firemen. Other fires have been similar started.

Will Take It to the Grave.

Bay City, Mich., Oct. 28.—A man shot by an officer while skulking in a lumber yard here has been identified as "Edward Riley," lately released from the Saginaw jail. The man is dying at the hospital with a bullet near his heart. Riley refuses to tell anything about himself. "I have only a short time to live," he says. "What I know will go with me."

Verdict That Hollister Got.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 28.—Damages in the amount of 6 cents to his feelings and $100 to his reputation were allowed in the verdict of the jury in the Harvey J. Hollister libel case against the Grand Rapids Publishing company. The Democrat, published by the firm mentioned, accused Hollister of being in the famous water contract scandal.

Christian Science Couldn't Save Her.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 28.—William S. Swingley, of St. Louis, Mo., died suddenly at the home of Mrs. Arthur Downer. He had been troubled for years with heart affection. He came two weeks ago to Kalamazoo and took treatment with Miss Cora Downer, first reader in the Christian Science church.

Went Hunting and Got One.

Bay City, Mich., Oct. 24.—Officer Herman Schmidt, while looking for burglar suspects, came upon five men skulking in a lumber yard. One of the suspects attempted to shoot, but the officer got in first with his gun and landed the fellow in the hospital with a bullet in his breast. The other four ran.

LADY STARTS THE WHEELS

Water Turned Into the New Power Canal of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 27.—Water was turned into the new power canal of the Consolidated Lake Superior company Saturday morning, and at 12 o'clock noon Miss Helen Clergue, daughter of Francis H. Clergue, organizer and general manager of the company, turned a jeweled switch that started the wheels in the big power house. Perfect bedlam broke loose in the two "Sees" as Miss Clergue started the machinery and set the wheels in the power house whirling for the first time.

The first current generated was used to run one of the company's new electric street cars. A civic and military parade marched through the streets during the morning that exceeded anything ever seen in upper Michigan. Over 10,000 men were in line. In the afternoon an industrial parade was given which showed the different products of the Clergue institutions in the various stages, from raw material to finished products. At night the three days' celebration ended with a banquet in the armory. The closing event of the day was a banquet, at which 5,000 persons sat down. It was spread on the second floor of the power house, which is a quarter of a mile long.

GETS A CORNER ON PEPPERMINT

Kalamazoo Company Has Secured 95 Per Cent. of All There Is in the World.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 27.—A. M. Todd company, limited, has secured 95 per cent. of the peppermint and essential oil crop of the world, amounting to a practical corner. The price of peppermint oil, which a month ago was $2.50 a pound, is now $5. As the total crop this year is about 190,000 pounds, the total value will be $900,000, and the advance amounts to nearly half a million.

New York speculators have kept down the prices and the growing of the essential oil plant has been unprofitable. Todd says that under the new arrangement the growers will reap profits. The crop of the present season is only two-thirds as large as usual. The heavy rain fall has produced the smallest crop in ten years.

Quick Action After a Death.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 27.—Within an hour after the death of Alderman Charles H. Phillips his wife petitioned the probate court to be appointed special administratrix of his estate. She claims that during his illness he was taken to his mother's home and she was refused admission to see him, and that his mother and sister influenced him to transfer to them his life insurance policies and other property, leaving her destitute.

Insurance Agent Under Charges.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 24.—At Paw Paw yesterday State Insurance Commissioner Barry lodged a complaint against Romanzo M. Buck, of Paw Paw, and James O. Keith, of Bloomington, for acting as agents for alleged unauthorized insurance companies. The companies in question have their headquarters in Chicago, but it is charged by Commissioner Barry that they are not authorized by the insurance department of any state.

Tore a Hole a Foot Wide in Him.

Menominee, Mich., Oct. 25.—Edward Hart, aged 21, son of Calvin Hart, of Nadeau, was instantly killed yesterday by a flying piece of iron from the wheel of a fodder cutter. He was feeding the cutter when a chunk of iron weighing twelve and a half pounds flew off, struck him just below the shoulder blade and passed through his body, tearing a hole a foot wide.

Would Foreclose on a Phone Co.

Detroit, Oct. 27.—The local law firm of ex-Postmaster General Don M. Dickinson is the head, representing the Old Colony Trust company, of Boston, has filed a bill in the United States circuit court to foreclose mortgages of the Michigan Telephone company. The suit is brought in default of the last semi-annual interest. The aggregate of the mortgages is $5,000,000.

He Lays Claim to Part of Sturgis.

Sturgis, Mich., Oct. 25.—Numerous property holders have received a notice from George Schriber, of Detroit, formerly wealthy but now penniless, to the effect that in looking over old papers he found a tax title on the land covering a large portion of the business part of this city. The deed conveying the title is imperfect and is dated a number of years ago.

False Report Starts a Run.

Alpena, Mich., Oct. 27.—A false report that the institution was about to go to smash started a run on the Alpena County Savings bank. There was no rush, but a steady stream of depositors asked for their money, and received it in every instance. The bank never was in a better condition and has plenty of cash on hand to meet all demands.

Gas Came Up Whistling.

Sparta, Mich., Oct. 24.—Workmen boring a well on the Spangenburg farm struck gas at seventy feet. It came whistling from the pipe, was set on fire, and the blaze went high in the air. Farmers are greatly excited in that locality, and they think they will all be rich soon. People came miles to see it.

Money Offered for a School.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 27.—Wellington R. Burt has offered the city school board a donation of $150,000 for the establishment of a manual training school, $100,000 for a building and $50,000 for equipment.

Route No. 6—House of J. J. Jennings at Ventura, and Pine Creek school house on Sec. 7.

Route No. 7—House of N. Nies and school house on Sec. 9.

In addition to the Star Mail Routes to New Groningen, Robinson, Graafschap and Gibson, which were discontinued July, 1901, the Mail Routes to East Holland, May and Macatawa are also likely to be discontinued after the establishment of the new service. The annual cost to the postoffice department for carrying mails to the above named offices was $384.38. One or more of the smaller offices along the lines of the routes just established will no doubt in course of time be discontinued.

Each person, or family, desiring the rural free delivery service must erect at his own cost a mail box, complying in its construction with the specifications prescribed by the department. But, inasmuch as the territory crossed by these routes has already been thoroughly canvassed, and supplied, it may be superfluous to repeat the prescribed specifications at this time. Those that are not supplied, however, can at a reasonable price procure a suitable and approved box from their hardware dealer.

Every box must be erected by the roadside, so that the carrier can easily obtain access to it without dismounting from his wagon. The same box must not be used for more than one family, except in the case of near relatives, or those residing in the same house. Persons neglecting or refusing to comply with these conditions will be regarded as not desiring rural free delivery, and the carrier will be directed not to serve them. Families residing on roads that are crossed by the established route, and desiring to enjoy the benefits of the service, have the privilege of putting up a box at the intersection.

The carrier will leave the Holland office immediately after the arrival of the morning mail from the east, not later than 9 a. m. at present, and return in ample time for the outgoing evening mails. The service will be daily, Sunday's excepted. The time of arrival each day will vary but little, and any unaccountable delay should be reported to this office.

Patrons of the service are expected not to delay the carrier more than is absolutely necessary. They will be accorded every privilege enjoyed by the patrons of the office in the city in this free delivery service, and it is expected that they will heartily co-operate in perfecting the service, and not annoy. They should also pay due attention to the election of Highway commissioners and pathmasters, and see to it that none but faithful and efficient men are elected to these positions.

Rural carriers are not to act as agents, salesmen or solicitors for express companies, wholesale houses, corporations or firms, but they shall not be prohibited from doing an express package business; provided it does not interfere with the discharge of their official duties. They may act as agents for newspaper publishers, sell newspapers or periodicals on their own account, or accept and collect subscriptions for the same.

Each carrier will wear a badge giving the number of his route. They will be supplied with postage stamps, postal cards, stamped envelopes and money order blanks, and if their patrons choose to make them their agents by entrusting to them addressed and stamped envelopes for that purpose they can enclose the money order, when issued at the postoffice, in the envelopes so furnished them and deposit them in the mails.

Postage on "drop letters" on rural free delivery routes is established at two cents.

Parties who in the past have had their mail directed to any postoffice on the line of a rural free delivery route, and who desire to avail themselves of the new service, will cause their address to be changed to Holland, Mich., adding thereto, "Rural Route No. 1," or No. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, or 7, as the case may be. This applies to newspapers and parcels as well as to letters.

Carriers will not bring to the Holland postoffice mail matter collected by them, which may be delivered on their routes before completing their trips.

The registration of letters and parcels will be carried out as promptly and effectively by carriers, as at the postoffice. For this purpose they will be supplied with the necessary blanks and stamps. They will also registered mail at the house or place of business of the addressee, unless they should meet him on his route. All such mail must be receipted for by the addressee in person, or by some one duly authorized in writing by him to do so.

The compensation of a carrier is $600 a year. He is to furnish his own horse and wagon. He also selects his own substitute, who is to serve in his absence. The postal laws prohibit him from holding any county or municipal office.

Officers Do Good Work.

The recent burglaries committed here have been traced and unearthed by Marshal Fred Kamferbeek, and Deputy Peter Bos. Some days ago the grocery store of W. Swift, the restaurant on North River street and the shooting gallery on River street were broken into and goods taken. On Monday the officers arrested Leonard De Witt, Allie Wanrooy, John Vos, Peter Vanden Berg and Allen Howard, boys of from 13 to 18 years old, on the charge of burglary. They appeared before Justice Van Duren and it was finally admitted to the marshal that they had done the work. Wanrooy and DeWitt were bound over to the circuit court. De Witt and Vos were not in the Swift burglary.

Agent Whipple was here yesterday and sentence was suspended on Vos, Van den Berg and Howard, until the cases of Wanrooy and De Witt are settled in circuit court.

MAN KILLED BY CAR.

Last night at about 8:30 o'clock as Charles Diepenhorst, C. Van den Bosch and Edward Braamse of Noordeloos, were driving across the electric railway track at Boone's crossing, they were struck by a car going to Grand Rapids. All were thrown out, Braamse being killed, Van den Bosch breaking a bone in one leg and being seriously hurt internally, and Diepenhorst escaping with slight injuries. The body of Braamse was brought here and Coroner Mastenbroek impaneled a jury composed of A. Van Duren, G. Van Haften, H. W. Kiekintveld, R. Corbett, Henry Winters and Jacob Haan. The inquest will be held Monday forenoon at 9 o'clock. Braamse was about 30 years old, without family and was a volunteer in the war with Spain. The car was in charge of Motorman McMaster and Conductor Hammond.

A Typical South African Store.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough-Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by Heber Walsh.

CAUTION!

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. The 25 cent size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents. At all druggists.

A NEW CORNHUSKER.

A Nebraska Invention and Some Things That Are Claimed For It.

A Nebraska man has invented a corn-husker, of which the Farm Journal presents the accompanying cut, with some information about it from a correspondent. The construction of this husker is declared to be most simple, yet thoroughly practical. Two large spiral coils work on either side of an elevator that projects beyond the wagon tongue. The corn is gathered both from the stalk and from the ground and elevated into the wagon.

The husker is fastened on the front part of the wagon, strips the husks from the ear, drops ear into the wagon and forces the husks by a blower into a huge pipe the length of the wagon box and slightly elevated in the rear, enabling the husks to fall into sacks on the platform or broad end gate of the wagon. The machinery is light. One team and driver can work and take charge of it. One farmer suggests attaching a press to press husks after the manner of baled hay.

BLOWER OR CARRIER.

The Elevation of Silage by Wind Is Making Rapid Progress.

The blower is fast taking the place of the ordinary chain carrier so far as feed and silage cutters are concerned. A great many farmers and dairymen are of course a little skeptical, and they possibly have good reason for being so, as a great many blower outfits have in the past failed to do their work satisfactorily. The elevation of silage by wind is, practically speaking, in its infancy, but it has made rapid progress within the last few years. The failure of some blower outfits to do their work has not in all cases been the fault of the outfit, but the lack of sufficient power and in many cases the use of ordinary judgment in their operation.

There is no denying the fact that a blower outfit when working satisfactorily is much better in every way than an ordinary chain carrier. These outfits of course require considerably more power than an outfit with chain carrier, and we would advise no one to attempt to operate such an outfit unless he has ample power. In elevating dry material the amount of power required is not greatly in excess of that required for an outfit with chain carrier. In elevating green silage to the height of the average silo, which varies from thirty to forty feet, the excess power required will run from 50 to 75 per cent.

Another feature with reference to the elevation of silage by wind is the fact that the more perpendicular the pipe can be set the less liability there is of clogging. Where the pipe is set at a low angle particles of the silage will drop to the low side of the pipe, and the wind will pass over it until finally sufficient silage has accumulated entirely to clog the pipe. Where the latter is set at a steep angle or entirely perpendicular the wind pressure is always directly underneath the silage, and it has no chance to clog.—Cor. Rural New Yorker.

Sugar Beets in Nebraska.

At the Nebraska experiment station planting sugar beets in rows eighteen inches apart, with eight inches between plants in the row, gave better results than planting at other distances. It is believed that, although good yields may be obtained from late planting, the chances of success are in favor of early planting. Late cultivation injured the beets and slightly lowered the sugar content and purity, but an increase in yield made up for this loss. It was found that late cultivation had been very effective in conserving the soil moisture. Weeds may very materially reduce the quality of the beets. As to the effect of wet weather during the latter part of the growing period on the quality of the beets, it was found that the percentage of sugar is rapidly reduced, but that "unless the fresh growth is accompanied by buds upon the crown there seems to be no real loss of sugar. The beets seem to increase in size and weight, while the sugar remains at a standstill."

Storing Onions.

With some precautions onions may be kept in good condition without serious loss, says Rural New Yorker. They should be entirely free from dampness and never piled or stored together in large quantities, especially in warm weather. They should never be piled under any conditions, but should be stored in level condition and not to exceed two feet in depth. Stored in level heaps and kept dry and cool as possible, they will keep fairly well. They will keep well in frozen condition provided they can be kept thus until required for use, but gradual thawing is necessary, and they must not be allowed to freeze the second time. If freezing is attempted, they must be allowed to freeze clear through, then cover with straw or other material thickly enough so that weather changes will not affect them.

SHOWING THE WAY.

This Public Statement of a Holland Citizen Will Be Appreciated.

Many a reader of this in Holland has gone through the selfsame experience in the past, and will be glad to be shown the way to get rid of the constant aches and pains of a bad back. Profit by a Holland citizen's experience.

Mr. John Lockhart of Twenty-eighth street, near Central avenue, says: "I had a constant aching in my loins and kidneys, so that at times I could hardly keep around. I could not rest comfortably in any position and after a restless night I arose as tired as when I went to bed. The kidney secretions became irregular, frequent and unnatural. I used different remedies but did not receive any benefit. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I procured a box at J. O. Doesburg's drug store and tried them. They did me so much good that I got another box and then another. They cured me."

Women who have themselves suffered from the evil effects of constipation and indigestion will be interested in the following letter from a father whose daughter was given up to die by two physicians:

"My daughter has suffered from indigestion for the past five years and has tried nearly everything that she could hear of for such trouble. She was confined to her bed when she began taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and after taking one fifty-cent bottle she is able to walk a mile at a time and during the day yesterday walked 3 1/2 miles. I feel like praising Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin because two doctors told me my daughter could not get well and I feel that she is on a fair road to permanent relief.—Respectfully, J. H. M. SERVANTS IN JAPAN

A LAND WHERE DOMESTIC SERVICE IS CONSIDERED AN HONOR.

The "Boys" That Wait on Table in Hotels and How They Work. Household Servants That Are Equal in Birth to Their Masters.

They have some curious notions about servants in Japan. Instead of its being considered a disgrace to go into domestic service in that country it is an honor, writes Mr. Douglas Sladen.

Japanese boys and girls may not have the honor of being servants at all, but are tradesmen, which is the lowest thing of all in Japan short of being an eta, or member of the class of outcasts. Grooms are excluded as a betting, gambling, cheating lot (the Japanese think it impossible for a groom to be honest) and the rickshaw boys as rough people without any manners.

There are two classes of servants, personal and kitchen. Kitchen servants need have no knowledge of etiquette. They are sometimes rough creatures from the country, no better than rickshaw boys. They are dull, contented drudges, but Cook San (Mr. Cook) is held in a very different estimation. In a small household he does the catering and keeps the accounts as well as superintends the ridiculous little bird's nest of charcoal ash which cooks the meals in Japan.

The personal servants show a humility to their employers which would paralyze an Englishman with any sense of humor, and their masters assume an etiquette air of command. But from every one else these servants expect a considerable amount of politeness.

Hotel servants are male and female. Hotels for Europeans generally have men housemaids as well as men waiters and call them all "boys."

To go to a Japanese hotel for the first time is like going to a farce. It is impossible to keep serious. In the dining room you are surrounded by pantomime imps dressed in loddie cotton doublets and hose, who run about shoeless and are called "boys" and look like boys until the day they die. Half of them know no English except the numbers. Each has a number to himself, and each dish on the menu has a number, even down to the potatoes.

"No. 5," you say if you are new to it, "I'll have some 2, and I'll take some 7 and 9 with it, please." He catches some numbers and brings them, but you would have a far better chance of getting what you want if you simply said 2, 7, 9.

You can hardly hear yourself speak for the scruff, scruff across the floor. You think it is lucky they don't wear boots. At very grand hotels they wear blue serge suits like ship's stewards and bad imitations of foreign shoes, and they don't run, and then they don't wait so well, because it is not natural for a Japanese "boy" not to run.

A Japanese "boy" has one good quality. Though he cannot understand English, before you have been in the house three days he will know your tastes, and if you like the breast of a chicken better than the leg you will get it, and you will have your steak to look purple or burned under when it is cut, as you prefer.

If he saw you using a teaspoon after your wife, he would very likely bring you a used teaspoon with your next morning's tea. His motto is that there is no accounting for the madness of foreigners and the forms it will take.

But your bedroom boy is a very different person. He has intelligence and often a fair command of English.

There is nothing that a Japanese room boy cannot do. I would trust him to mend my watch. I have tried him on such varied problems as luring a frightened canary back to its cage, fishing up a small coin that had fallen through a crack in the floor and mending the lock of a portmanteau. One of them even said that he could take in a felt hat which I gave him so large for him that his ears did not stop it.

The Japanese like their hats to rest upon their ears. They can mend your clothes or put a button on and are handier than sailors. They expect you to show them all your purchases and always tell you how much more or how much less you ought to have paid.

In the transient life of a hotel you see the farcical side of Japanese servants. The pristine and sentimental side you only get in a private family, where the servants, like the pages of the middle ages, may be equal in birth to their masters, but willing to do service in his household because he is a famous poet or noble or man of science, so as to gather the crumbs of education which fall from his table.—Exchange.

Economy.

Fudge—Yes, Spinks has a splendid system of economy.

Judge—How so?

"He goes to work and lays aside money for something he doesn't need."

"No economy in that."

"Isn't there? Well, by the time he has the money saved he always finds he doesn't want the thing—and then the money is saved."—Baltimore Herald.

An Annoying Insinuation.

"I don't suppose he meant anything unkind," said the young woman, "but it was a very startling coincidence."

"What do you mean?"

"Just before Harold and I got married his friends persuaded him to join a 'don't worry' club."—Washington Star.

One of the worst things that can happen a young man is to get the notion that he can't have a good time without wasting his money.—Arlington Globe.

HELD UP BY ONE MAN

Bold Crime in the Train Robbery Line Done on the Northern Pacific.

HEROIC ENGINEER IS A VICTIM

Dies at His Post, Shot by the Fiend Who Did the Hold-Up—Bloodhounds Are on the Trail.

Missoula, Mont., Oct. 25.—East-bound passenger train No. 2 on the Northern Pacific was held up Thursday night near Drummond, Mont., at a place forty-five miles from this city, and Engineer Dan O'Neill was killed. The train, which included mail, baggage and express cars, with nine coaches, arrived at Missoula at 10:20 p. m. from Portland and coast cities, and proceeded eastward after a short delay at this station. It arrived after midnight at a place two miles west of Drummond. Here the train was signaled to stop, and the engineer slowed up. While doing so he saw a man creeping toward him over the tender.

Dead at His Post of Duty.

Th. eman, who was armed, called to O'Neill to stop the train instantly. The engineer took in the situation at once, and pulling open the throttle tried to start the train at full speed. The robber divined his purpose and fired at him. The shot took instant effect and the engineer fell dead at his post. The robber then proceeded to rifle the express and mail cars. He plundered the regular mail, and blew open the safe in the express car, which was wrecked by the explosion. The amount of plunder which he secured is not known at present, but it is supposed to be large.

Intense Excitement on the Train.

The excitement on the train was intense. The sudden stoppage of the train followed soon by the explosion spread alarm among the train hands and the passengers. The darkness of the night and the loneliness of the place added to the general scenes of terror. Word of the attack was sent to Drummond, whence it was telegraphed to Deer Lodge, about fifty miles away.

BLOODHOUNDS AFTER THE ROBBER

One Man Said to Have Done the Job of Holding Up the Train.

Bloodhounds were sent out at once in charge of trusty men and steps were taken to keep vigilant watch for the robbers. It was assumed that at least eight men were engaged in the hold-up, but the latest advices are that one man alone perpetrated this atrocious murder and robbery. Sheriff Prescott with a strong force of men started at once for the scene of the robbery on a special train. The coroner went with him. Dan O'Neill, the murdered engineer, lived in this city, and had a wife and five children. He had been in the service of the Northern Pacific longer than any other engineer. The robber boasted that he was the man who took part in the hold-up of the Southern Pacific train near Portland, Ore., about a year ago. He made this boast to the train hands to terrorize them while he employed them to run the train for four miles—that is to two miles east of Drummond. He declared that he would be hard to catch, as he had a horse in the timber. Warden Conley, of the Deer Lodge penitentiary, is engaged in the pursuit with the bloodhounds. The robber blew up the baggage as well as the express car.

The Northern Pacific has offered a reward of $5,000 for delivery, dead or alive, of the train robber who murdered O'Neill. The mask worn by the bandit was found on a mountain trail two miles from the scene of the hold-up, and after giving the hounds the scent of the mask the animals immediately took up the trail, which was then about eight hours old.

It is believed that the robber boarded the blind baggage car when the train stopped at a water tank near Bear Mouth. After the robbery the bandit, taking one of the train crew named Berry for a companion, marched down the track without molesting the passengers. After going about a mile and a half he told Berry good-bye and took to the woods.

Chicago Tax-Fixers Found Guilty.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—The jury in the Masonic temple tax fixing case returned a verdict of guilty against Luke Wheeler and Captain Williams. Captain Williams was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,500 and to be imprisoned six months and Wheeler fined $3,500 and to be imprisoned two years. It was charged that Wheeler and Williams assisted by others, by means of forgeries, made it appear that approximately $27,000 taxes due on the Masonic temple had been paid. The forgeries were discovered and the conspiracy disclosed.

Dies from Football Injury.

Stanton Ills., Oct. 28.—Edward Schmidt, a member of the Stanton Regulars, was injured in a football game between the Regulars and the Coffeys of St. Louis, and died ten minutes afterward. York, lawyers; Theodore, of Paris, and G. Smith, a real estate broker at Warden Cliffe, Long Island. The funeral will be held on Wednesday.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 27.—The news of the death of Elizabeth Cady Stanton fell heavily upon Susan Anthony, who was preparing to attend Mrs. Stanton's birthday anniversary. She said: "Through the early days, when the world was against us, we stood together. Mrs. Stanton was always a courageous woman—a leader of thought and new movements. I always called her the philosopher and statesman of our movement. She was a most finished writer, and every state paper presented to congress or the state legislatures in the early days was written by Mrs. Stanton. I cannot express myself at all as I feel, I am too crushed to say much, but if she had outlived me she would have found fine words with which to express our friendship."

RICH GEMS ARE GONE

Unset Jewels Worth $8,000 Stolen from a Safe in the Masonic Temple at Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Diamonds and other precious stones valued at $8,000 were stolen at night from the safe of Wechter & Weinman, manufacturing jewelers in the Masonic Temple. The jewels were unset, and for this reason the police believe there is little hope of their recovery.

The theft of the jewels was discovered in the morning, when a member of the firm went to the safe to get some articles that a customer called for. It was seen that the treasure box had been tampered with, and an inventory was taken at once. Between $8,000 and $10,000 worth of diamonds, rubies, sapphires and emeralds were missing from the vault into which they had been placed a few hours before. Investigation was begun, but none of the firm or employees knew what had become of the lost jewels.

MEN WHO DELIVER MAIL.

Heart Tragedies Thint Line the Route of Letter Carriers.

"Tell you a story? Why, yes, I might tell a good many stories if that was in my line." The letter carrier blew a pearly wreath of smoke upward and flicked the dead ash from his cigar, says the Denver News. "Let me see. There's an old lady on my route down in Alabama who sits knitting the live-long day by the front room window. Every morning and afternoon when I whistle at the door of her next door neighbor she lays down her knitting and peers with a tired, eager face out of that window until I go by. She's got a boy somewhere out west. He doesn't write to her twice a year, yet twice each day the whole year through she sits there, with that anxious look, waiting, waiting, waiting. I feel a twitch at my own heart every time I pass by and see the look of expectancy fade into disappointment. Sometimes I'd give $50 to be able to stop and give her five lines from that good for nothing boy of hers for whom she's eating out her heart."

"That reminds me," said a younger man who heard the letter carrier's story, "of a pretty baby on my route in a Louisiana city. She's a dainty tot about four or maybe five years old. She has blue gray eyes like a wood violet that look a fellow straight to the heart. Some little girls can do that after they are older. This tot's mamma died six months ago, and for a month afterward she used to come tripping down the walk to meet me with a little white note in her hand, and, looking me to the heart out of those big trusting eyes, she would say, 'Mr. Postman, won't you please take this letter to my mamma in heaven?' I used to take the dainty missive from the wee pink hand. I couldn't tell her how far away her mamma was. One day she came without a letter, and there was pain in the great, sweet eyes. 'Mr. Postman, baby wants a letter from mamma. Please, Mr. Postman, tell my mamma me wants some letters too.' And, boys, every day for a week I had to pass that baby with the pain in the gray blue eyes, and I wondered the angels did not find some way somehow to make her baby heart understand."

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

Water in which mignonette has been placed should be changed often, since it quickly becomes foul.

The best use to make of old bones is to break them up and bury them near the roots of fruit trees and grapevines.

By sowing nitrate of soda in small quantities in showery weather under trees a most beautiful verdure will be obtained.

It is not a good plan to fill an old orchard with young trees. The soil is too much exhausted by the growth of the former occupants.

Geraniums bloom most satisfactorily when grown in comparatively small pots and soil which is termed rich, but not rank with excessive manure.

Stir, spade, rake and pulverize soil thoroughly before planting or sowing. The importance of this work cannot be overestimated if you desire fine blossoms.

Geraniums that have been used for summer bloomers will not flower again until the late spring months. Plants for winter blooming should be grown especially for this purpose.

Care of Puppies.

Puppies after weaning will keep strong and healthy and will grow fast, if fed only on fresh buttermilk and corn bread, with soup instead of the buttermilk twice a week, till they are five or six months old. Do not feed them sweet milk. Keep the puppies where they can get plenty of exercise. Do not crowd them. Arrange their kennels so that they can go in and out of their sleeping quarters. If fed in the same vessels, some dogs get more than their share of food and lose their manners also. Fasten a number of chains where they eat at such distances that no one can reach the other: then feed in individual pans. Give little medicine and plenty of exercise, and you will then have strong, healthy dogs. An hour's run every day in the year in the fields and woods, weather permitting, is essential to good health.

Get a True Focus.

A habit of looking at things from a distorted angle, of focusing the vision on things that depress and suggest unhappiness and misery, is a destroyer of happiness and success. A man who goes about with a funeral face, thinking "hard times," fearing "dull seasons," disaster, panic and failure wherever his interests center, is never a happy man, rarely a successful one.

Pessimism is a destructive force in men's lives, just as optimism is a constructive agency.—Success.

Immune.

"My!" exclaimed the old lady who was taking her first trolley ride. "I should think it would be mighty dangerous workin' on these cars all the time. Ain't you 'feared of the 'lectricity' strikin' you?"

"No'm," he replied as he took her nickel and neglected to ring it up on the register. "You see, I'm not a good conductor."—Philadelphia Press.

Got Even the Tramp's Money.

Harmless Hank—Wot's wrong, pal? Youse as w'ite as a ghost. And w're did youse git dat book?

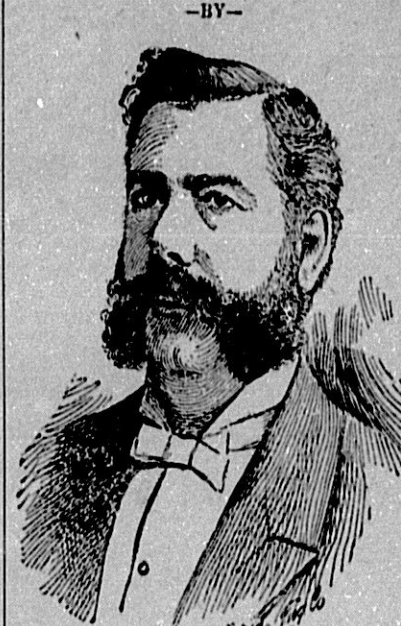

Luckless Harry—Don't ast me! All I remember is stoppin' at a house where a book agent lives an' askin' fer a couple o' matches.—Chicago News.
